She lived most of her married life in Fallon, NV, on a farm where she and her husband reared their family. Active in the LDS Church serving in the Relief Society, Primary, and MIA. She assisted her husband when he was a bishop for nine years. His eyesight was such that he couldn't drive or read — she was his "eyes." She dearly loved her family, children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and in-laws. Many children have been entertained by her songs, stories, and poems. She will be remembered by her family and friends for the hundreds of pillow tops she quilted on her lap quilting frame. She was always interested in improving her mind by reading good books, Relief Society lessons, scriptures, and keeping up with national and world news. After living in Fallon for over 50 years, she and her husband moved to Providence, UT, to live with her daughter and family. She has lived in Providence for almost 10 years where he has made many friends, enjoyed her membership in the DUP, Spring Creek Camp and will be missed.
